ASPIRE is a high school mentoring program for local high schools to provide a safe space for students to discuss identity, culture, and issues affecting the Asian American Pacific Islander (AAPI) community. High school students attend workshops taught by Penn students. As one of the initiatives affiliated with the Pan-Asian American Community House (PAACH) at Penn, ASPIRE is a community of dedicated students who come together to learn and reflect. Refreshments will be provided for each session. ASPIRE is not Asian or Asian American-exclusive. First generation immigrants and undocumented students are also welcome. We welcome students from all backgrounds.
